Optical feature: occupancy sensor

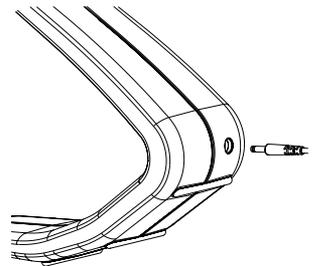

- Amble will automatically shut off after 30 minutes of inactivity, and then back on as the user re-enters the space.

occupancy sensor

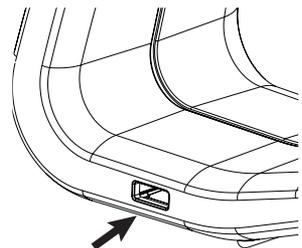

Optional feature: battery

- Amble’s rechargeable battery will supply illumination for approximately 6 hours. When battery has approximately 30 minutes of life remaining, Amble will dim and pulse twice- then will automatically reduce brightness for the remaining life of the charge. Brightness can be increased again, but will use the remaining battery charge more quickly. To recharge, simply connect to included DC power supply as shown (power requirements 24V DC, 0.75A). Under typical usage, the battery pack is expected to operate for up to 500 charge/discharge cycles. Available only on the Amble Designer series

Optional feature: USB charging

- Charge your mobile devices with the built in 5V, 1.2A max. dedicated USB charging Type-A port located in Amble’s base. Amble must be plugged in for USB charging to occur. Available only on the Amble Performance and Amble Designer series
